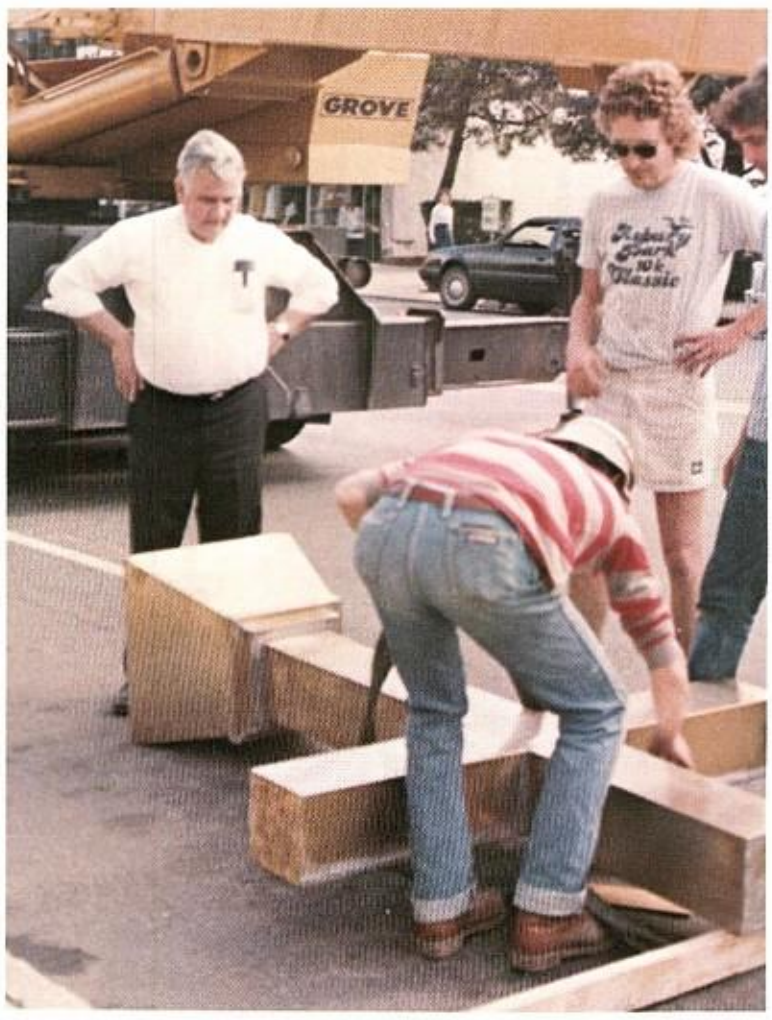
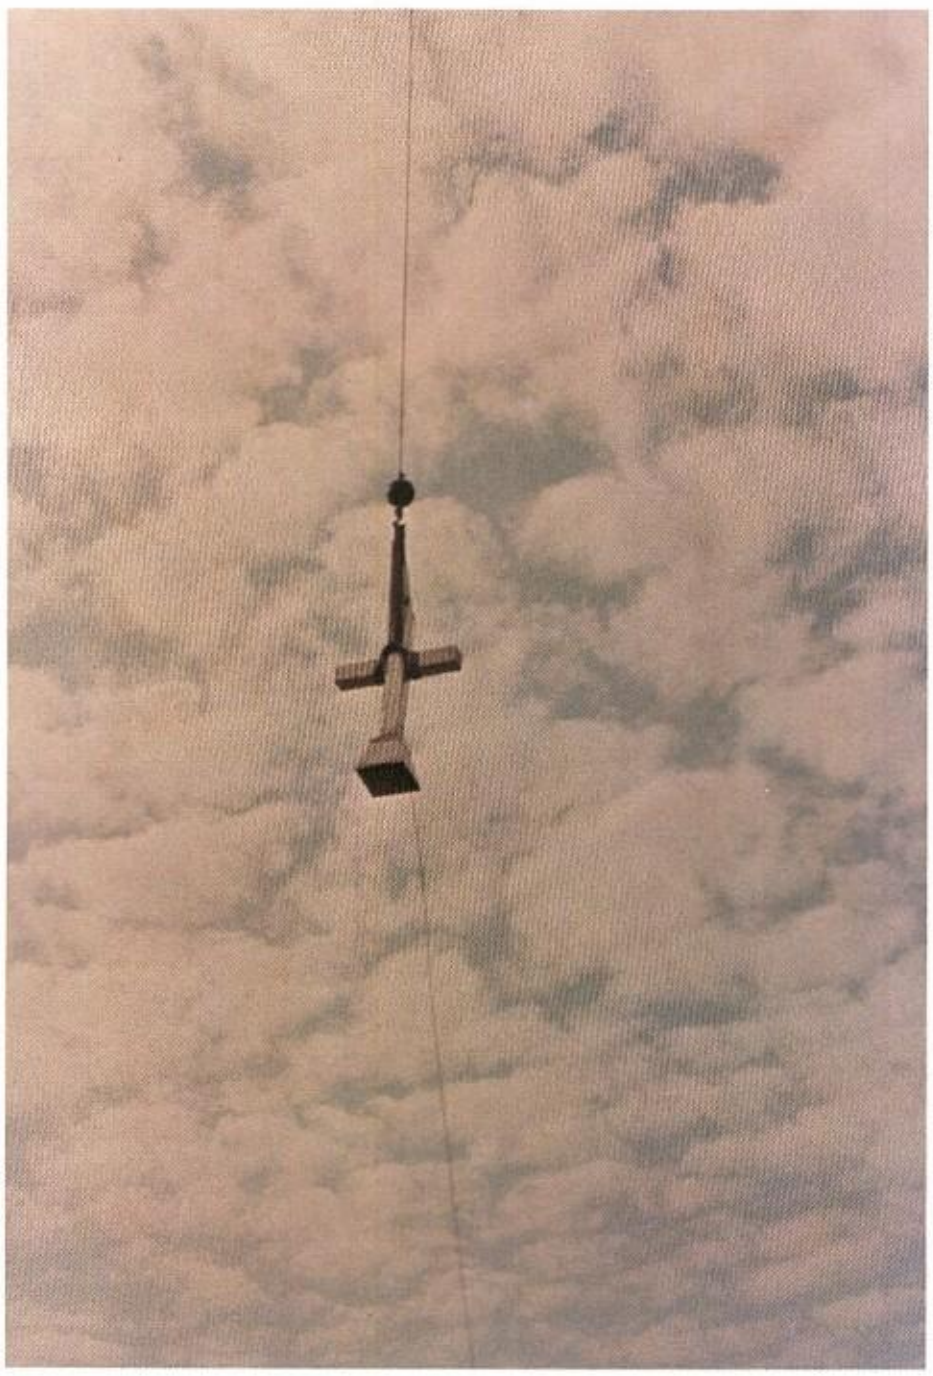
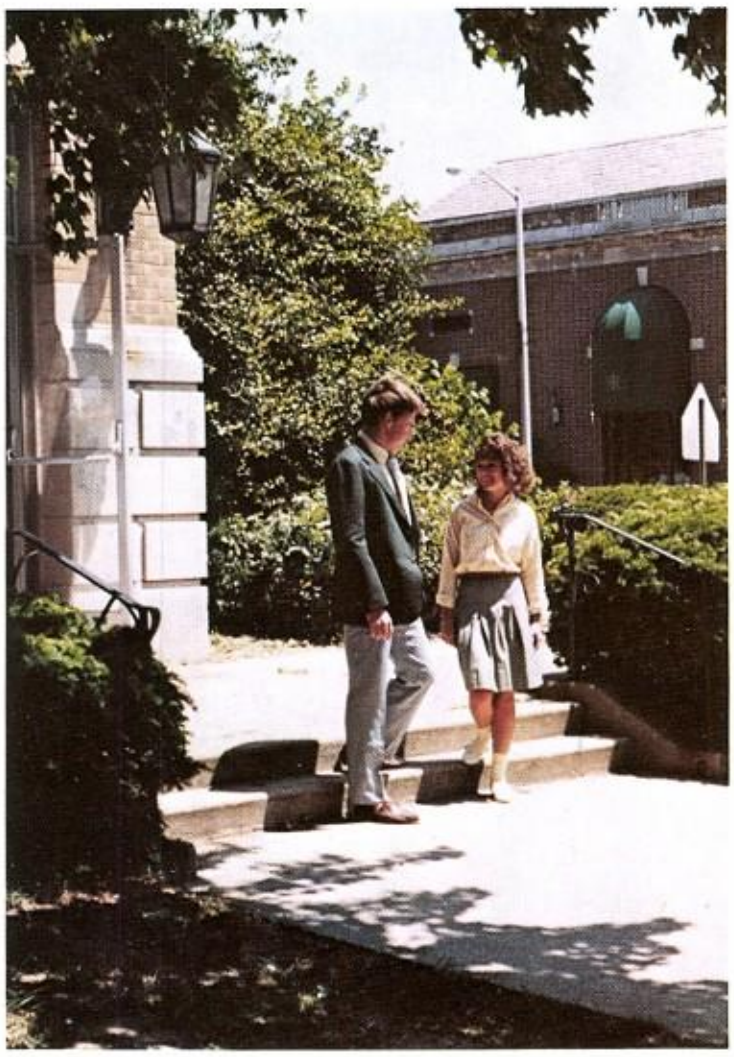
The Sign of the Cross



Four long years in the making, yet it was worth every minute of the wait. A magnificent three-hundred pound, solid brass cross now sits atop the newly rejuvenated steeple of Saint James Church. From its perch of over one hundred feet the cross illuminates the street below. Monsignor Valentino initiated the arduous project. He holds the success of this time-consuming endeavor with an abundance of pride. The four-week reconstruction period was difficult for Saint James parishoners and Red Bank Catholic students alike. The frustration of both the barren steeple and the deafening noise that sifted into the classrooms was diminshed by the enthusiasm for the long-awaited cross. The appearance of the new cross adorns the church without destroying the charm of the valued Red Bank landmark which dates back to the turn of the century. Great efforts were made to ensure that the cross and steeple remained similar to the original construction, and yet become even more radiant . As a result of the exorbitant amount of planning and labor contributed to the cross, its divine beauty projects a feeling of hope: a hope for today, a hope for the future.



Projections



The past four years at Red Bank Catholic have produced many stars. These stars shine in their own way. As students at Red Bank Catholic High School we become involved in a community that enables us to project our interests and abilities. We form special relationships with peers and teachers alike. The interaction within the Red Bank Catholic community allows for productions such as pep rallies, clubs, and sports teams. These productions form distinctive characteristics in each one of us. Qualities such as sportsmanship and school spirit are evidently present in all students; this is what makes the Casey Stars unique. This special individuality projects a feeling of enthusiasm which classifies Red Bank Catholic High School as a legend in its own time.

"Somebody"

On May 8, 1986 the Junior Prom for the Class of 1987 was held at the Dorian Manor in Old Bridge, New Jersey. The theme of the prom was a song entitled "Somebody" by a group named Depeche Mode. Over four hundred people attended, and each person was with someone special. Junior Class moderator Mr. Mark Bradley and the level officers Nick Fugaro, Mary Griffin, Piper Reid, and Kristen Miller worked diligently all year to produce an event that would be memorable for all who attended. The night was capped off with the crowning of Prom King and Queen — Mike Haar and Mary Griffin. The rest of the court consisted of first runners-up Al Golden and Jen Quinn, and second runners-up Brian Cohen and Michele Lanza. The Junior Prom was an enormous success and a memorable event for all who attended.

The Class of 1987 was successfully led in their final year at Red Bank Catholic by class officers Al Golden, Anthony Codispoti, Janette Knittel, and Jen Cameli. With the guidance of Mrs. Belmonte the officers provided the senior class with memorable events. These events included the Senior Luau, a senior dance, senior dress up day, powder puff football, and the awesome senior prom. Thanks Al, Anthony, Janette, and Jen for a super senior year!

"My Favorite Year" aptly describes the feelings of the Class of 1987. It has definitely been a year which served as the climax to four sensational years of high school. School spirit and pride were the unifying emotions that enabled the senior class to make Red Bank Catholic High School an exciting place. The seniors joined together and projected their Casey spirit at events such as the Luau, the Senior Olympics, the Senior Prom, and ultimately our graduation. The Class of 1987 expresses its sincere gratitude to the administration, the faculty, and the entire student body for an experience that has given us religious training, respectable educations, special relationships, and most of all fond memories of a place that allowed all of us to achieve our potentials and project our talents — Thank you. It's "From Here to Eternity" . . .

Student Council

The jovial juniors were successfully led by President Kevin Brennan, Vice-President Willie Hopkinson, Secretary/Treasurer Karoleann Murphy, and Committee Chairperson Chrissy Cavagnaro. With the guidance of Mrs. Mascolino, class moderator, the officers conducted many memorable events. These events included the traditional Junior Ring Ceremony, a Christmas dance, the junior olympics, a winter ski trip, and the Junior Prom. Thanks to the devotion of the officers and moderator the Class of 1988 rallied together quite often to display their spirit and had an enjoyable and productive junior year.

"Against All Odds"

The Forensics team is moderated by Miss King and guided by veteran competitor and President Fran Centofante. The team was comprised of many ambitious students who desire to compete in public speaking. The team participated in several competitions and always had several students place high in the rankings. There are various categories in which students can participate; these include dramatic prose, extemporaneous, and dramatic monologue.

Forensics Team

The Stock Market Club is a small group of students who meet once a week to play the stock market game. The game is completely computerized, and each team is given an imaginary sum of $100,000. The students invest the money in certain stocks. Computerized printouts display the amount of money either gained or lost, as well as the team's ranking according to its net earnings.

To the Physics Students of '86-'87

"We Know What It's Like"

Twas the morning of test day when all through the room
Every student was cramming for the test that did loom
Studying notebooks and learning the ways
Hoping they know it and praying for A's

But as they page through the books that they see
They realize their knowledge and pray for a B
Of energy they've learned, they've studied transitions
They've looked at equations and graphed their positions

Of center of gravity, of forces and friction
They try to absorb all the physical diction
Remember what's theta, omega, and g
And what's the equation of velocity

The nature of liquids, of solids and gas
Is some of the knowledge they've gained in class
Try for precision and accuracy
It's all based on vectors, "I'll pray for a C"

Rotary motion and linear speed
Are some of the monsters that physicists breed
The math is a problem with scientific notations
Try hard to remember the teacher's quotations

Of the problems you've practiced and try to agree
With how you have done it and how it should be
Molecules, atoms, of kilos and moles
Phases of matter and opposite poles

They've studied and labored through the course of the year
And though they've spent hours, some things are unclear
Now they realize their knowledge of what was taught in class
Lay their heads on their desks and pray that they pass.

Under the leadership of Mr. Thomas Bender, the Jazz Band has once again had a busy and successful year. The band not only created and enlivened the school spirit, but also presented a Christmas and a Spring concert for the enjoyment of friends and family. During these concerts, the Jazz Band performed a repertoire of popular songs. With the help of President Jacki Enright, Vice President Sheree Terrell, Secretary Sue Blac, Activities Chairperson Jennifer Lippin and two time All-Shore trumpeter James Ruf, the Jazz Band once again had a most impressive year.

The Concert Band, under the guidance of Mr. Thomas Bender, enables the gifted RBC musicians to show off their many talents. They have entertained many audiences at their Christmas and Spring concerts in the past, and they'll continue to be a leading source of Casey spirit in the future.

Concert Band

The talented Caseys sing their hearts out in the Concert Choir, directed by Mr. Thomas Bender. Working in perfect harmony, these students perform in both the Christmas and Spring concerts, as well as, in masses and graduation exercises.

Hefty Caseys all pulling together make up the WEIGHT TRAINING CLUB. With personal guidance from Mr. Mautner, these students keep physically fit by using the newly-renovated facilities of the RBC universal and powerweight rooms outside of their required physical education classes. The WEIGHT TRAINING CLUB is open to all RBC Muscle MEN and WOMEN.

Under Mr. Cross' guidance, the members of the SPORTS APPRECIATION CLUB meet during activity periods for some intramural action. Both the finer points of basketball and baseball are discussed. Participants need not be varsity letter winners; consequently, improvement on a personal level is stressed.

The Thespian Club was a new activity during the year; moderator Miss Tarricone started the club for students interested in acting and performing in productions. The club was guided by elected leaders — Co-Presidents Chris Siracusa and Paul Palmieri, Co-Vice Presidents Sara Racek and Brian Cohen, and Co-Secretaries Amy Carr and Kelly Chapman. The club's first production was "A Charlie Brown Christmas" which was performed on December 10, 1986. Senior Chris Siracusa directed this play. The Thespian Club is involved with all aspects of the theater including set design, stage managing, publicity, costumes, and drama.

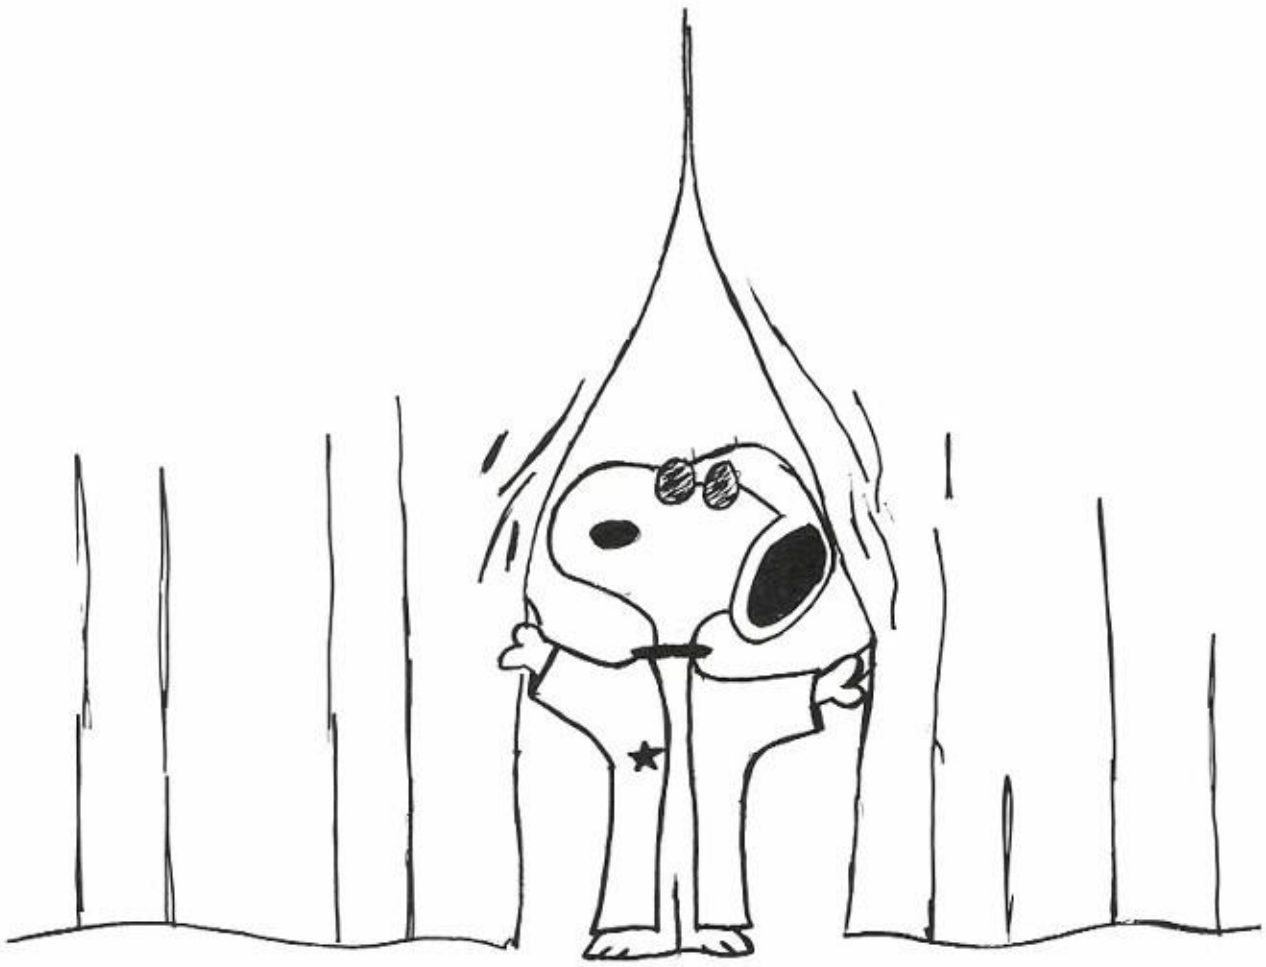
CAST



"When Charles Schulz first created Peanuts, he embarked on a venture that was to capture the imagination and hearts of the entire world." Brought to life in "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown" is the lovable Charlie Brown who has never pitched a winning baseball game, has never been able to keep a kite in the air and has never been able to talk to that Little Red-Haired Girl. The other members of the cast include Snoopy, the very imaginative dog; Lucy, the five-cent psychiatrist; Linus, the little boy who adores his blanket; Schroeder, the boy who adores Beethoven; Patty, the tomboy who loves to call Charlie Brown Chuck and the rest of the cast who have personalities of their own.
